Chair Trust—What Next?

New York and Chicago promoters have undertaken to organize a trust that will take in all of the big chair manufacturing establishments of the United States. It is announced that the trust, if it is formed, will be capitalized at $500,000 or $600,000. The plan is to buy outright the larger chair manufacturing establishments.

The Eagle, King of All Birds,

For Governor.

Auditor Sam H. Stoe, of Madison county, is an out and out candidate for Governor. The announcement is public, and it is given out that Stone and Taylor will combine to defeat Pratt. Stone and Taylor will represent the Administration wing, and Pratt, Bradley.

Jesse Haiman, of Bradner, O., and T. A. Hunter, of Marion, O., will start in a few days on a tour around the world on bicycles.

A SMALL SPOT MAY BE CANCER.

MOST VIOLENT CASES HAVE APPEARED AT FIRST AS WERE PIMPLES.

The greatest care should be given to any little sore, pimple or scratch which shows no disposition to heal under ordinary treatment. No one can tell how soon these will develop into Cancer of the most type. So many people die from Cancer simply because they do not know just what the disease is; they naturally turn themselves over to the doctors, and are forced to submit to a cruel and dangerous operation—the only treatment which the doctors know for Cancer. The disease promptly returns, however, and is even more violent and destructive than before. Cancer is a deadly poison in the blood, and an operation, plaster, or other external treatment can have no effect whatever upon it. The cure must come from within—the last vestige of poison must be eradicated.

Mr. Wm. Walpole, of Washburn, S. D., says: "A little blotch about the size of a pea came upon my left eye, gradually growing larger, from which shooting pains at intervals ran in all directions. I became greatly alarmed and consulted a good doctor, who pronounced it Cancer, and advised that it be cut out, but this I could not consent to. I read in my local paper of a cure effected by S. S. S., and decided to try it. It acted like a charm. The Cancer becoming at first irritated, and then discharging very freely. The gradually grew less and then disappeared altogether, leaving a small scar which soon dropped off, and now only a healthy little scar remains where what threatened to destroy my life once held full sway." Positively the only cure for Cancer is Swift's Specific.

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD

—because it is the only remedy which can go deep enough to reach the root of the disease and force it out of the system permanently. A surgical operation does not reach the blood—the real seat of the disease—because the blood can't be cut away. Insist upon S. S. S.; nothing can take its place. S. S. S. cures also any case of Scrofula, Eczema, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, Ulcers, Sores, or any other form of blood disease. Valuable books on Cancer and Blood Diseases will be mailed free to any address by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

ENGLAND'S QUEEN.

Her Eightieth Birthday Observed on Wednesday.

Celebration of the Event at Windsor Castle and Throughout England.

M'KINLEY SENDS GREETING.

Torrents of rain ushered in Queen Victoria's eightieth birthday on last Wednesday.

At Windsor, where a general holiday was being observed, the town, was decorated with flags and the church bells were rung at 11 o'clock in the morning.

The weather cleared at about 11 o'clock, and a serenade by the Windsor and Eton Amateur Choral Societies was given in the grand quadrangle of Windsor Castle. The Mayor and corporation of Windsor, in their full robes of office, and the Borough Magistrates were also present.

The scene was extremely picturesque. The Queen, looking to be in excellent health, came forward and bowed repeatedly.

Her Majesty afterward knighted the Mayor, J. T. Soudry. Although the official birthday celebrations in London were postponed until June 3, all public buildings, many business houses and a great many private residences were decorated. In fact, more flags were flying than at any time since the Queen's Jubilee.

A great congregation assembled in St. Paul's Cathedral in the morning, where thanksgiving services were held, and huge crowds of people were unable to obtain admittance, and grouped themselves in the spaces about the building.

The birthday celebration continued throughout the provinces, the ships in the different ports were "dressed" for the occasion and the warships were covered with bunting.

At Portsmouth there were reviews of the regular troops.

A telegram from Sima, the summer capital of British India, records that impressive Queen's birthday services were held there.

Dispatches from the Continent report the printing of eulogistic articles on the Queen's reign in the European press.

AN AUTOMOBILE HERE.

First of the Horseless Carriages Is In The City.

The first automobile to be permanently located in this city is now housed in the stable in the rear of 2021 Maryland avenue and is being exhibited by its maker, Mr. W. Lee Crouch, of New Brighton, Pa. He hopes to interest Baltimore capital in manufacturing carriages on his patents and has already associated with him Mr. D. A. Clark, of this city. The automobile arrived in this city yesterday and a spin was taken out the road during the evening. Today it will travel around the vicinity of Roland Park and the swift, mysterious movements of the horseless carriage have attracted crowds of curious spectators.

The automobile now in Baltimore has seats for two, though another couple can easily be accommodated. It is painted black except the broad panels in the sides of the body, which are cherry. Little machinery is visible. In front the most conspicuous object is a pair of bicycle handle bars, somewhat larger than those on the smaller vehicles. Upon the bars is fastened a bell to warn away danger.

Against the dashboard are placed two gauges, showing the air and steam pressure. A water indicator tells how much of the fluid is in the reservoir concealed in the rear of the body. A small foot-brake and a lever to cut off steam are the only other pieces of mechanism visible except two screw valves which operate to cut off the supply of steam and oil.

The motive power is superheated steam. Mr. Crouch, the inventor, says he can expand this agent to a much greater degree than by the ordinary engine and thus can generate his means of propulsion very cheaply. Common kerosene oil or gasoline is used and horse-power is developed with less than 20 pounds of water. The reservoir will hold 20 gallons of water and 10 gallons of oil. The total horse-power of the automobile is 12, and Mr. Crouch says the heaviest grades are climbed with ease. A run of 40 miles was taken yesterday, during which 20 gallons of water and 3 1/2 of oil were consumed.

One of the clever appliances of the machine is a long hose which connects with the reservoir and engine in such a way that should the water supply get low while on the road, it is only necessary to get within 12 feet of the water supply, drop in the hose, turn a valve and the engine pumps the reservoir full in a few minutes.

The mechanism concealed under the body of the automobile is an arrangement of axles, gears and driving chains, reminding one of the now old-fashioned tandem bicycles. Of course it has pneumatic tires and the machine bowls along the country roads at a speed of 25 miles an hour. —Baltimore News, April 14, 1899.

The maker of this machine, Mr. W. Lee Crouch, was born near White Oak, Bath county, and at the age of 10 years moved with his family to Hillsboro, Fleming county, where he was dissatisfied and ran away from home, going to Cincinnati, where he went to work in an electric light house. Since that time he has been identified with the inventors of the age. May he meet with deserved success.

I want to buy 20 yearling red-poll hoppers. W. F. HILLEN, 40-ft. Mt. Sterling, Ky.

It is estimated that 500 saloons in Baltimore will close their doors as the result of the determination of the Maryland Brewing Company to abandon the practice of paying for licenses.

Admiral Dewey Says Anti-Expansionists

Will Be Regarded as Curiosities In Years to Come.

KEY TO ORIENTAL COMMERCE.

A dispatch from Hong Kong quotes Admiral Dewey as saying on board the Olympia:

"The courtesy of these visitors I warmly appreciate, but I am too much worn out and sick to receive them. I am not sorry to leave Manila at this time. I could not stand the care and responsibility much longer. It is vastly easier sometimes to be under orders than to issue them. It kills. During the year that has elapsed since we came to Manila, I have not had one sick day until now. A year is long enough in this climate for an old man and I am glad to be permitted a rest. On this account I expect to remain in Hong Kong two weeks. That ought to recuperate me. My intention is to spend the time at Victoria Peak, where I hope to be absolutely free from worry. Nobody is more sensible of the kindness of the people who have extended me invitations, but I do not wish entertainment. My health will not stand it at present. Two weeks of perfect quiet at the peak ought to make a new man of me."

"I have the greatest enthusiasm in the future of the Philippines. I hope to see America's possessions the key to Oriental commerce and civilization. The hands of our great country will develop the agricultural and mineral richness of the islands."

"We must never sell them. Such an action would bring on another great war. We will never part with the Philippines, I am sure, and in future years the idea that anybody should have seriously suggested it will be one of the curiosities of history."

"The insurance is broken. There will be no more hard battles and the new era for the islands that was temporarily delayed by the rising will soon begin. Aguinaldo and his generals must be captured and then the very semblance of insurrection will cease. Aguinaldo is the real power among the natives. Whoever was it is always Aguinaldo. The officers of the Tagalos, civil and military, tell us they have no power to treat for peace until they hear from Aguinaldo. Foreigners and natives testifying before the peace commission all testify to the same state of facts."

"Many of the island provinces that were once warlike, are anxious for peace and will accept the American terms as soon as the Tagalos of Luzon are whipped into line, but they dare not treat with us as long as Aguinaldo has the power to confederate property or punish those who offend him."

"The end is not far off, if we push right after them. We must concentrate our troops and vigorously prosecute the campaign in Luzon. That is our whole task. The southern islands will soon fall in line. This, I hope, will not be long happening."

"The Olympia will go home leisurely. I want my officers and men to get the greatest benefit of all the stops we make. We will pick our places with this in mind. They have earned a rest by a year of steady duty without respite."

"While I am glad to be going home, I cannot say good-bye to Manila without regrets. There have been many pleasant occurrences among the months of harassing responsibility and we shall not forget them."

THE WHITE MAN'S BURDEN.

[Copyright 1899, by Rudyard Kipling. All Rights Reserved.]

Take up the White Man's burden—
Send forth the best ye breed;
Go, bind your sons to exile
To serve your captives' need;
To wait, in heavy harness,
On fluttered folk and wild—
Your new-caught, sullen peoples,
Half devil and half child.

Take up the White Man's burden—
In patience to abide
To vaunt the threat of terror
And check the show of pride;
By open speech and simple,
An hundred times made plain,
To seek another's profit,
And work another's gain.

Take up the White Man's burden—
The savage wars of peace—
Fill full the mouth of famine,
And bid the sickness cease;
And when your goal is nearest
The end for others sought,
Watch sloth and sthenia fold
Bring all your hope to nought.

Take up the White Man's burden—
No iron rule of kings
But toil of soft and sweeper—
The tale of common things
The ports ye shall not enter,
The roads ye shall not tread,
Go, make them with your living
And mark them with your dead.

Take up the White Man's burden,
And reap his old reward—
The blame of those ye better,
The hate of those ye guard—
The cry of hosts ye humor
(Ah, slowly!) toward the light—
"Woe brought ye us from bondage,
Our loved Egyptian night!"

Take up the White Man's burden—
Ye dare not stoop to less—
Nor call too loud on Freedom
To cloke your weakness;
By all ye will or whisper,
By all ye love or hate,
Take up the White Man's burden,
And surely shall we wait;
Take up the White Man's burden,
Have done with childish days—
The lightly-proffered laurel,
The easy, ungrudging praise;
Come now, to search your manhood
Through all the tangled years,
Cold, edged with honest wisdom,
The judgement of your peers.
[Rudyard Kipling in February Mc-
Clure's Magazine.]

THE BROWN MAN'S BURDEN.

An address to the United States by
Jingo strippling.

The verses in Labouchere's Truth parodying Kipling's "The White Man's Burden" are as follows:

Pile on the brown man's burden
To gratify your greed;
Go clear away the "yellow perils,"
Who progress would impede;
Be very stern, for truly
"The useless to be
With new-caught, sullen peoples,
Half devil and half child.

Pile on the brown man's burden;
And if ye come his hate,
Meet his old-fashioned reasons
With Maxims up to date.
With shells and dum-dum bullets
A hundred times made plain
The brown man's loss must ever
Imply the white man's gain.

Pile on the brown man's burden,
Compel him to be free
Let all your manifestoes
Reek with philanthropy.
And with heathen folly
He dares your will dispute,
Then in the name of freedom
Don't hesitate to shoot.

Pile on the brown man's burden;
And if his cry be sore,
That surely need not irk you—
Ye've driven slaves before.
Seize on his ports and pastures,
The fields his people tread;
Go make from them your living,
And mark them with your dead.

Pile on the brown man's burden,
Nor do deem it hard
If you should earn the rancor
Of those ye yearn to guard.
The screaming of your engine
Will drown the victim's sob—
Go on through fire and slaughter,
There's dollars in the job.

Pile on the brown man's burden,
And through the world proclaim
That ye are freedom's agents—
"There's no more pang and
And should your own past history
Straight in your teeth be thrown,
Retort that independence
Is good for whites alone.

Pile on the brown man's burden,
With equity have done;
Weak, antiquated scruples
Their squeamish course have run;
And though 'tis freedom's banner
You're waving in the van,
Revere for home consumption
The sacred "rights of man!"

And if by chance ye falter,
Or lag along the course,
If, as the blood flows freely,
Ye feel some slight remorse,
Hie ye to Rudyard Kipling,
Imperialist a pop,
And bid him, for your comfort,
Turn on his Jingo stop.

Long and Short-Railroad Act Sustained.

A dispatch from Frankfort to the Courier-Journal recently said:

For the second time, and with a differently constituted court, the Court of Appeals has upheld the validity of Section 820 of the Kentucky Statutes, the long and short-haul railroad act. The opinion of the court was delivered in the case of the L. & N. Railroad Company against the Commonwealth, appealed from the Marion Circuit Court, and is an affirmation of the judgment of that court. The opinion was written by Judge Hobson, the new member of the court who succeeded Judge Lewis, who sat at the first hearing of the question.

The action grew out of indictments returned in the Marion Circuit Court charging the L. & N. Company with violating Section 820 of the Statutes, which provides that "if any person owning or operating a railroad in this State, shall charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggregate for the transportation of passengers or property of like kind, under substantially similar circumstances and conditions, for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line in the same direction, the shorter being included in the longer distance, such person shall be guilty of misdemeanor and fined."

The offense consisted in the appellant transporting coal from Altamont to Louisville at $1.10 per ton and to Elizabethtown at $1.30 per ton, while it charged $1.55 per ton from Altamont to Lebanon, an intermediate station on its line. Upon trial of the indictments the company was fined $900 in one case and $350 in another.

In affirming the lower court's judgment Judge Hobson said:

"A railroad is only an improved modern highway. It must of necessity be subject to public control like it predecessor, the turnpike; for the industry and commerce of the country are dependent upon it. To hold that only railroad men understand rates, or that they shall be allowed alone to fix the rates and that no tribunal can review their decision as to what rates are reasonable, is to put in their hands a power as dangerous to the welfare of the community and utterly out of keeping with the doctrine that they are public agencies and so have the right to appropriate to their use the property of the citizen against his consent upon making just compensation. It has been notorious that railroad managers have by discrimination in favor of certain shippers or a given locality brought ruin to others. It was the aim of the Constitution to regulate the railroads in the State to treat all localities fairly and with equality."

"We are unable to see that as yet any right of the appellant has been invaded, or that it has any; just cause of complaint. If it be true that the public interests require the discrimination in rates shown in this case, it may be that upon presentation of the facts to the Railroad Commission it would allow the rates to stand and make an order exonerating appellant from the operation of the section."

"Justice Adams' first born dyed his hands in his brother's blood; yet interests have warped and controlled human judgment. However honest and faithful railroad managers may be, they look first to the interests of those they serve, and no principle of constitutional law is violated when the State creates an impartial tribunal to prevent their great powers from being used to build up certain favored ones at the expense of others."

"On the Fence."

The following is from the Courier-Journal of last Thursday:

"John C. Wood, Republican Railroad Commissioner in the Third district, and the nominee in his district for reelection, arrived in Louisville last evening. Regarding the Republican gubernatorial situation, Mr. Wood is keeping discreetly quiet, merely declaring that he was 'on the fence' so far as this phase of politics was concerned. Mr. Wood ventured to remark, however, that Stone was exceptionally strong in the Tenth district, where he lives, and thought the State Auditor had an excellent chance to carry not only this district, but also the Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Eleventh."

Modern Railway Equipment.

The equipment of the modern railway service is growing better every day. The highest point of excellence is reached in the "Pacific Coast Limited," a new train now operated between St. Louis and Los Angeles and San Francisco, via the "True Southern Route."

Leaves St. Louis every Tuesday and Saturday via the Iron Mountain Route, and makes the run to Los Angeles in two days and a half.

The equipment of this incomparable train consists of a composite car, with barber shop, bath room, buffet and observation, smoking and library compartment, ladies' private compartment, with seven drawing rooms, and an observation parlor, two or more Pullman ten-section double drawing room sleeping cars, and in addition to this equipment a superb dining car, in which meals and service are of the very best, and where the traveler can regulate his expenses by his inclination, as all meals are served a la carte.

Poverty No Barrier to a College Education.

"I have yet to learn of anybody's coming unhandicapped by disease or great debt, and then going away because he could not earn a living at college. And I have yet to hear any one of them say the game was not well worth the candle. It is hard work, of course, but a college man, like every one else, is happier with his time well filled. In fact, most of the men I knew who worked their way through college enjoyed their four years quite as much as their more fortunate fellows; indeed, I am not sure the latter class are always more fortunate, for, in addition to getting as much, if not more, out of his books, the man who 'earns his own way is acquiring practical experience and a confidence in himself with which to pitch into the big world later in life.'"
—Jesse Lynch Williams in the June Ladies' Home Journal.

A President's Grave Unmarked.

Two pages of pictures in the June Ladies' Home Journal, giving views of the places "Where Our Presidents are Buried," recall the fact that four of the first five of our Chief Executives sleep in the soil of Old Virginia. The picture shows that the grave of President John Tyler, at Richmond, Virginia, is absolutely unmarked—even by a small headstone. Visitors to Hollywood Cemetery are shown a scarcely perceptible mound, over which a magnolia spreads its shade in summer, as the resting place of our tenth President. The burial-places of all the others are marked with monuments or tombs, except those of the two Adamses, who are buried under the portico of the First Church Quincy, Massachusetts.

In this issue appears the advertisement for Oil Springs a charming resort conveniently located. A stay there will be pleasant.

National Banks Taxable Only as Congress Provides.

In a recent decision in the United States Supreme Court Justices Peckham and White handed down opinion in thirty-six cases, involving the bank tax law of Kentucky. The court decided that the judgment of the Court of Appeals, rendered through Judge Pryor in 1895, in favor of the Bank of Kentucky, the Third National Bank, the Louisville Banking Company, the Farmers' Bank of Kentucky, and the Deposit Bank of Frankfort, is binding as res adjudicata in favor of those banks, and that the subsequent change of opinion by the Court of Appeals in 1898 in its opinion by Judge Payton, could not affect those previous judgments. As to those banks, there can be no taxes assessed except the seventy-fifths on each share of stock under the Hewitt law. This exemption will last until the expiration of the then existing charters of those banks. The Bank of Kentucky's charter lasts until 1909.

As to the national banks, the court holds that they can only be taxed as the act of Congress provides; and as the act of Congress only provides that they may be assessed on their shares, while the present Kentucky statute does not tax the shares, but taxes the property of the banks, it follows that the taxes cannot be enforced against the national banks.

GREAT DEMOCRATIC

Anti-Trust Meeting Held in St. Louis.

A great banquet was held in St. Louis on Thursday, in which about 1,500 persons participated. After the feast speeches were made by prominent men, among whom were W. J. Bryan, Champ Clark, of Missouri; O. H. P. Belmont, of New York, and John P. Altgeld, of Illinois.

The chief address was by W. J. Bryan. The burden of his speech was anti-trust. Although he devoted the greater part of his address to the trusts, he touched briefly upon the silver question, declaring it was an issue that must be met. The Republicans, he pledged to the gold standard, he said, were opposed to silver because it meant the giving up of the standard which they had adopted.

BELMONT DECLARES FOR BRYAN.

Following Mr. Bryan came O. H. P. Belmont, of New York, who in the opening sentence of his speech declared himself in favor of the election of Mr. Bryan as the Democratic nominee. He then turned to the foe of the evening—the trusts—and hunted them vigorously, declaring them the offshoot of the policy pursued by the Republican party during the last twenty years.

Ex-Gov. Altgeld, of Illinois, was the next speaker. He dwelt for a considerable length of time on the principles of the Chicago platform, declaring that a continued adherence to them by the Democratic party would mean a great success in the future.

There will be a large delegation at the General Association of Baptists, which convenes in this city on June 16. The Baptists are making elaborate preparations for their entertainment. Other denominations are generous in their assistance. How pleasant it is to thus aid one another.

Rev. John Reeves, presiding elder of this district, preached at the Methodist church Sunday morning and evening. His sermons were appreciated. Mr. Reeves is one of the strongest preachers of his church, and no one can listen to his preaching without learning something, for of a true he is a great teacher.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell has often courteously extended to me the freedom of his pulpit. Never at any time or on any occasion has he even so much as suggested a theme for discourse or matter to be referred to in a sermon. For his fraternal consideration and for the patient kindness of his congregation I am deeply grateful.

May 29, 1899. W. T. TIBBS.

The above notice is suggestive. From the bottom of our heart we are sorry for those people who are so extremely sensitive. The Communion Service could have been mentioned as Rev. Tibbs' subject and this might have been satisfactory. As it was stated it could have been construed to mean that it was a sermon to the Methodist flock by Rev. Tibbs instead of Rev. Mitchell. It could have been construed that it was for Mr. Mitchell's own self, but we now say Rev. W. T. Tibbs preached a sermon at the Methodist church Sunday, May 21, 1899, on the subject of "Communion."

Bishop Leonard, in his annual address before the Ohio Episcopal Diocesan convention at Cleveland, scathingly denounced the divorce law: "The good people of the United States are raising a great cry against the admission of a member Congress who is a polygamist, when practicing polygamy is being practiced all over the country. Things have come to such a pass that the filonist pretexts are made means of securing a divorce. A slight quarrel or miserable lust are alike made a means of this end." He wanted the church laws made so severe that a divorced person cannot be married at all by an Episcopal clergyman. Divorce laws should conform to New Testament teaching.

Aoyama, Tokyo, Japan, April 25, 1899.

DEAR MRS. TIPTON:—Lord willing, and I head my letter Tokyo, for I shall soon be there, though in reality I write from Nagoya to-day.

The chief object of the present writing is to say to you that the Japanese members of our little church at Kedi Machi, in this city, the work that you have helped so much, desire to name the chapel building in the front, that is, on the street, after yourself, and call it Tipton Chapel. I have assured them that you will consent, as it is the desire of their good hearts to preserve in the memory of them and their children the fact that it is in a large measure through your help and constant interest in them that this work has been put upon its feet. They ask, also, that you will be good as to further help them by sending to them a photograph of yourself and husband, such as you sent me and I prize so much, and they will make a neat frame for it and put it in the chapel to remain permanently. If you will address the photo. to the Rev. Senoo-oka Ogata, 182 Millami Hiyaya-cho, Nagoya, Japan, it will reach its destination safely, as I will tell Mr. Ogata what it is for. He takes charge of the work as my successor for the present.

I cannot tell you how much good your work has done for this city and the Kedi Machi church. That is, of course, but a beginning in christian work; but all such work has to have its beginning. We shall hear from it in the future. I enclose to you a picture of the chapel, though I think one has been sent you before; but this gives you no idea of the inside of the building.

I hope we shall not hear from you less often because we move to Tokyo. I will carry on most of the work that I have had in hand as special work. I am to take charge of the Tokyo district from this time, and shall have much to do.

Before leaving this city I expect to send you a few more things, and you can report to me just as before, simply changing my address.

Yours very truly,
DAVID S. SPENCER.

The Court of Appeals in an opinion by Judge Hobson, the whole court sitting, rendered a decision in the case of the Board of Commissioners of the city of Danville against the Boyle County Fiscal Court, holding that cities and towns in counties where free turnpike have been voted, must keep up such parts of those pikes as lie within the city limits. The decision establishes an important precedent.

The Fair for the Boone Monument Fund at Richmond has been postponed from June 1st and 2nd to June 9th and 10th.

The popular view of the relation of the blood to human character and conduct is marked in many a familiar expression. We speak of there being "bad blood" between people at enmity, of "blue blood" as indicating ancestry, of "black blood" as describing a treacherous nature, and in many other phrase mark our belief that in the mental, moral and physical man, "the blood is the life." The one basis of a healthful, happy and useful life is pure blood. With the blood pure, disease has no permanent lodging place in the system. For this reason the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures the body of diseases which have their origin in impurity of the blood. It absolutely purifies the blood, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter, increasing the action of the blood making glands, and building up the body by supplying the blood in quantity and quality such as is essential to a condition of health. It cures ninety-eight people out of every hundred who give it a fair trial.

A Blind Fox Hunter.

Across the Kentucky river from Mercer, just back of the Jessamine county cliffs, is the modest home of Tom Johnson, a most remarkable man.

Mr. Johnson has been stone blind since early youth, but notwithstanding the loss of his eyes, he is one of the most enthusiastic fox hunters in the State. Often alone he follows his hounds among the Kentucky river cliffs in a gallop and with an apparent recklessness that one with keen vision would not dare imitate, and though he has done this for many years, he has never met with an accident.

He knows every nook and creek in the cliffs, and when he comes to a very dangerous point, he dismounts, takes hold of the horse's tail and the animal guides him in safety over places where a misstep of the faithful beast would hurt both man and horse to certain destruction.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

Court Term Without a Trial.

The most remarkable term of Circuit Court that ever sat in Lewis county adjourned on Saturday, May 20th. For the first time in the history of the county and probably in the history of the State a Circuit Court convened and adjourned without a single trial.

AN HISTORIC BUILDING.Danville Theological Seminary
May Be Used For Colored Schools.

The trustees of the Danville Colored Common Schools are making efforts to raise money enough to buy the old Danville Theological Seminary building for school purposes. They believe that the scheme will succeed, and that the property will be transferred and remodeled in time for the fall session.

The old building is of historic interest. About one-half of it was erected before Kentucky was a State, and served as a country court house. In it were held the celebrated conventions which finally resulted in the formation of the State, and in it the first constitution was formulated. This portion of the building—the cradle of the Commonwealth—is still in a good state of preservation. Until a few years ago it was a part of the Presbyterian Seminary, but since the erection of Breckinridge Hall and chapel, near Centre College, it has been occupied in suit for theological students. It is located two blocks from the center of the town.

The Court of Appeals reversed the judgment of the lower court in the cases of Johnson's executors, Louisville Chair Company assignees, and Ranson vs. Frankfort Chair Company in three separate cases. The lower court gave judgment against the chair company for obligations of A. D. Martin. The chair company set up the claim that Martin had sold to the chair company and this court construed the contract that the property belonging to the chair company is not subject to execution under such judgments. And the contract transferring the property was valid. William Cromwell, represented Louisville creditors, and Judge Holt represented the chair company.

A Great Discovery.

A farmer tells an exchange that he has made a discovery that will be of vast importance to farmers during a dry season. He has found by planting onions and potatoes in the same field in alternate rows the onions become so strong that they bring more to the eyes of the potatoes in such vast volumes that the roots of the vines are moist and a big crop raised in spite of drought. The same farmer has a scheme for raising custard pie by crossing the egg plant with the milk weed.

Help the Cause.

There has never been a more successful campaign that equalled in importance that of the one to be fought this fall. The Republican party, backed by the money power of this country and Europe, is alert and aggressive. Flushed with the victory of two years ago, it will seek by every means in its power to maintain its supremacy. Democrats must be up and doing. They must wage an unceasing war upon their enemies. In no better and more effective way can this be done than by the circulation of good, sound Democratic newspapers. The publisher of the Chicago Dispatch, the great national Democratic weekly, will send to every new subscriber three months a copy of the Chicago Dispatch. If you are not already taking the great political weekly, send in ten cents at once and receive the great paper during the coming campaign. You should not only do this yourself, but you should induce your friends to join with you. A little effort on your part will raise a ten or twenty subscribers. Address THE CHICAGO DISPATCH, 120 and 122 Fifth Avenue, New York City.
